

Private capital mobilization in subnational industrial policy far exceeds per-dollar fiscal costs

Figures represent how many dollars in private capital are mobilized by a single dollar of state-level spending in two different multistate industrial policy analyses.

■ South-Central and Southwest ■ Southeast

Note: Analyses referenced are Unlocking Electro-industrial Growth to Meet Surging Electricity Demand in the Southeast and Building a Geothermal Powerhouse Region in the South-Central and Southwest United States.

Source: Rhodium Group