

54% of respondents agree politics overly focuses on minorities, neglecting 'normal' people's needs

Please state your level of agreement with the following statement: "Politics has focused too much on the needs of various minorities. It's time for politicians to pay attention to the needs and problems of normal people like me." (N = 1,000)

