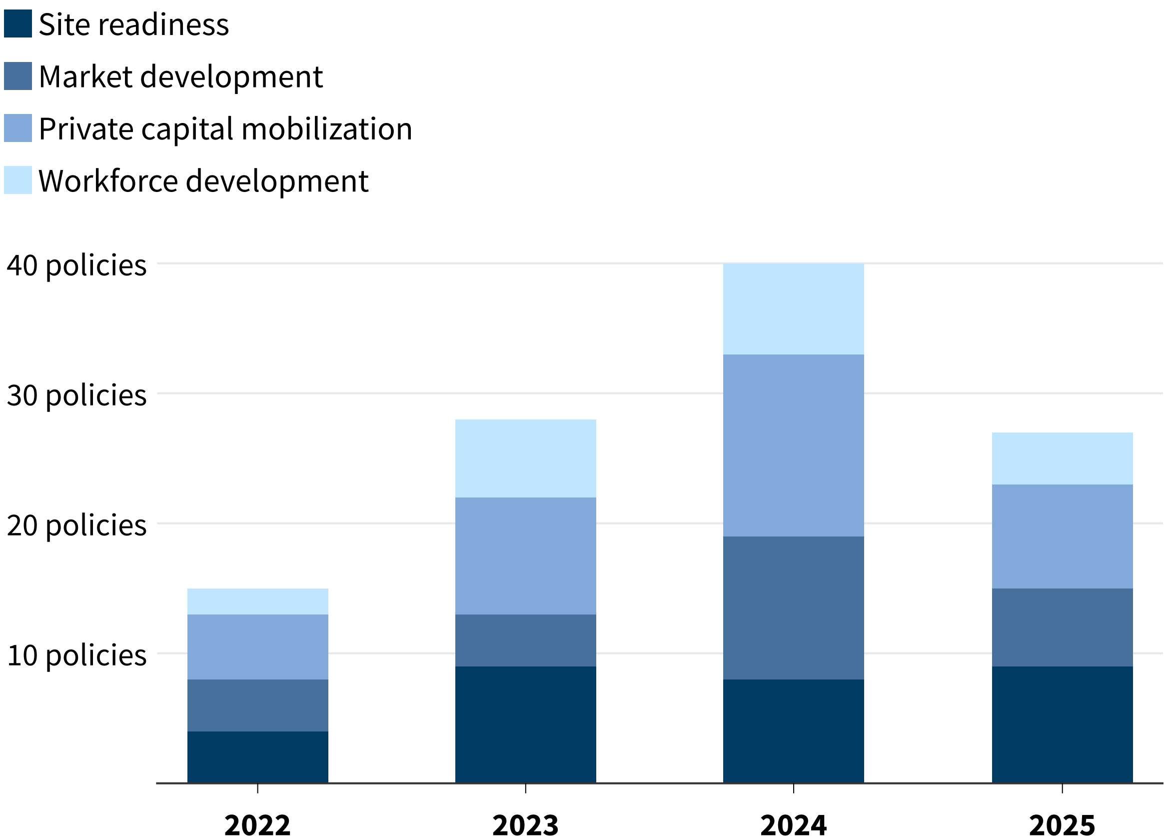
The emphasis of state-level industrial policy varies by year

Consider the enactment of policies relating to site readiness, market development, private capital mobilization, and workforce development in the Southeastern United States (represented here as Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, and Virginia).



Note: Policies tracked may count toward more than one category.

Source: RMI analysis

RMI